HISTORIC ST. MARY'S CITY

Welcome to the living memory of St. Mary's City, where history is as alive as the air we breathe. Here in Maryland's first capital, every step, every breath, is a journey through time. Step aboard the Maryland Dove, a reproduction of one of the two vessels to land on Maryland's shores in 1634. The buildings, reconstructed on their original foundations, offer guests the opportunity to walk in the echoing footsteps of those who came before. Here, you can unlock age-old wisdom, mastering crafts handed down through the generations. From the art of hide tanning to the warmth of hearth cooking, every skill is a thread in the tapestry of our shared history. Embark on an enlightening voyage of collective discovery with Historic St. Mary's City.

DOWNTOWN LEONARDTOWN

Leonardtown received its moniker "a most convenient place" back in the early 18th century. Since then, Leonardtown has continued to grow into this nickname, becoming a charming and walkable community that everyone enjoys. The town is full of locally-owned restaurants, unique shops and boutiques, an award-winning winery, historical sites, a waterfront park with a public pier, and a newly renovated hotel. Not sure where to start? The Leonardtown Visitor Center, located in the Old Jail Museum, provides the latest information on local attractions.
